SAFETY

It Starts with Good Design!

ACEHK seminar

Seminar Synopsis

Design for Safety & Risks is gaining more recognition in Hong Kong as (i) the community is expecting a safer and risk-free construction environment, (ii) the client is looking for better value for money and (iii) designers and builders strive to achieve safer life cycle performance. The Seminar, which emphasizes the point that safety is not just a construction challenge, will update all participants on the latest local and international developments on this subject. It will also discuss how designers can contribute to a safer built environment. The Seminar aims at developing a framework to produce designs that can reduce safety risks at subsequent stages of the project life cycle of construction, operation, maintenance and decommissioning / demolition. Such framework can only be achieved by close collaboration of all concerned stakeholders leading to enhanced practitioners' culture towards safety.
